The NCCA is a nonprofit educational and social foundation that promotes Italian American culture and heritage working through fraternal organizations. It is a resource for the Italian American community, in addition to having educational and youth programs.

Outstanding Service

This 2018 dinner was particularly important because it was dedicated to the preservation of Columbus and his memorials across New York City. The highly esteemed council that is incredibly grateful for its supporters, ensures that everyone involved is an exemplary Italian or Italian American who goes above and beyond their duties to serve others, as well as their community. Also there to congratulate the awardees, was the Consul General of Italy in New York [3], Francesco Genuardi. During his speech the Consul highlighted the NCCA many accomplishments and the key role that the foundation plays in supporting and promoting the Italian American culture and community.
